Sumitomo Mitsui Trust Bank, Limited (President: Masaru Hashimoto Hashimoto; hereinafter “SuMi TRUST Bank”) extends the most sincere condolences to those that passed away due to COVID-19 and families of the deceased and express the deepest sympathy to all that contracted the virus, their families and those involved.

As measures to tackle this virus in Japan become protracted, we would like to offer our deepest gratitude and respect to those on the medical frontline who are devoting themselves to the treatment of patients and preventing the spread of the virus.

SuMi TRUST Bank hereby announces that it will donate 100 million yen to the Japanese Red Cross Society for the purpose of supporting their various activities such as medical activities in tackling the virus and activities to prevent the spread of the virus.

Furthermore, in advance to this donation, we have to date donated 100,000 medical masks that SuMi TRUST Bank had been storing for emergencies since the outbreak of novel influenza in the past to medical institutions via the Keidanren (Japanese Business Federation), Kankeiren (Kansai Business Federation), and other organizations.

We sincerely hope that these donations and others will lead to the improvement of the work environment of medical institutions and healthcare workers nation-wide and act as an assistance in some way for the cessation of this virus.
