—Consideration for the Environment

056

Without a healthy planet to provide the clean air, fresh water, agriculture, forests and fisheries on which human life depends, societies cannot succeed and companies cannot create long-term value.

The Group's Approach to Planet (Environmental Issues)

With regard to the three elements of a sustainable society, namely the economy, society, and the environment, the spread of COVID-19 demonstrated how social dysfunction can cause immeasurable damage to the economy, while also highlighting how global environmental issues such as climate change can undermine the very foundation of society's existence. This implies that an economy can function only in a healthy society, and that society must stay within the limits of the environment. Based on this perspective, we have established an environmental policy that considers global environmental issues in relation to the economy, and we are accelerating our various environmental initiatives.
